

SEEN & HEARD

SARS-CoV-2 Implications in a Simulated Ophthalmology OR Setting

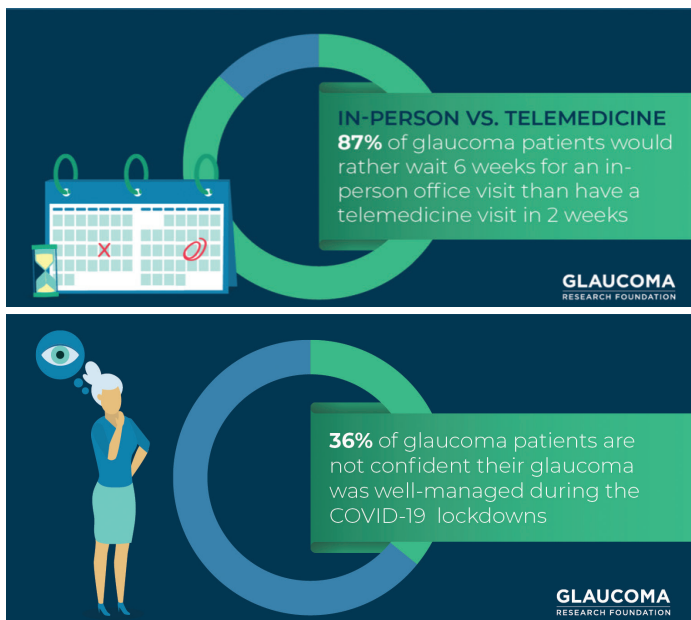

In a video, Tina Felfeli, MD; Amrit Singh Rai, MD; Rosa Braga-Mele, MD; Efrem D. Mandelcorn, MD, FRCS; Wendy Hatch, OD, MSc; and Amandeep Singh Rai, MD, present a simulation evaluating the potential spread of respiratory droplets in ophthalmic surgery.

bit.ly/AAOspread

MEETING UPDATES

- Virtual: Women in Ophthalmology (WIO) 2020 Summer Symposium | August 23–25
- Cancelled: Vision Expo West 2020 | September 23–26
- Virtual: European Society of Cataract & Refractive Surgeons (ESCRS) Annual Meeting | October 2–4
- Virtual: American Academy of Ophthalmology (AAO) Annual Meeting | November 13–16
- Postponed: American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery (ASCRS) Annual Meeting | August 13–17, 2021

SURVEY IN TELEMEDICINE

Findings from a survey of 1,051 US-based glaucoma patients, conducted by the Glaucoma Research Foundation and supported by Aerie Pharmaceuticals.

bit.ly/GRFccovid1

New on the North American Scene

Ike Ahmed
@ikekahmed

Super excited to be first surgeon in North America to implant the brand new Vivity lens implant commercially... a totally novel non-diffractive extended range of vision len. Could be a game changer in cataract/lens surgery! Safety with presbyopic correction. #alcon #VivaVivity

Driven to Glaucoma

Nathan Radcliffe
@n8radcliffe

As a 2nd year ophtho resident, I examined my mom's eyes. Although she was cared for by a close family friend, and I was a novice, I felt she had undiagnosed advanced glaucoma. I was right, he missed it, and she has been stable now for 15 years. It's probably why I chose glaucoma